2. Some discussion took place on this item. The points that were discussed were:

a. That the basic question to be resolved was that the Operations people would consider over-flight missions for the purpose of dropping such equipment.

b. That there were intelligence targets against which such a device could be utilized.

c. As in all development projects, a thorough survey of military equipment would be continued to determine if an already developed equipment could be modified for Agency use.

3. It was decided that the initial step should be a discussion by O&T representatives with representatives of ID/P to determine if such a development should be initiated.

III.

The meeting adjourned at 1530 hours.
